

Call for Contributors

Das 500 is the online critical writing space for Das Platforms, home to Das Superpaper and Das Cinema. With a new editorial team and shiny new website on the horizon, the site is growing and we are looking for contributors.

Our editorial focus is on dissecting emerging and contemporary arts practice across all mediums, as well as critical analysis of issues and trends within the contemporary art community – all within 500 words or less. The usual form will be short reviews and articles, but we also want to support experimental approaches to critical writing.

If you fancy yourself a critical thinker, send us a short proposal at das500.ed@gmail.com.

All proposals will be considered.

Cut-off date for proposals is Wednesday 25 May.
